

Privacy Policy

This website is owned and operated by Webnet Ltd.

At Webnet Ltd, we recognise that many visitors to our site are concerned about the information they provide to us, and how we treat this information. So we've developed this Privacy Policy to address any concerns you may have. We may update this Policy from time to time, so please check in regularly.

Types of information we collect.

At our site, we do not collect personally identifiable information, but we do collect aggregate information.

Personally-identifiable information relates to an individual – e.g., name, address, telephone number, picture, email address, credit card number, etc. We only collect personally-identifiable information from individuals who provide it to us voluntarily and knowingly, such as registering at our site, or by providing name and address information and requesting follow-up contacts from us. We don't require you to register or provide this information to us in order to view our site or have access to its content.

Aggregate information relates to such things as how many visits there are to our website, which pages are accessed, what information they download, the type of web browser and operating system you use, the name of your Internet Service Provider and so on. When you visit our site, we automatically collect this information, and combine it with similar information collected about all other visitors. This information does not enable us to identify you as an individual. By collecting this information, we learn how to best tailor our website to our visitors.

How information is collected.

As we noted above, personally identifiable information is not collected from you directly. Thus, when you register on the site, we collect the information you provide. We only collect the information needed for us to fulfill our obligations to you. When you email us, we collect the email address you supply, so that we can respond. You can opt out of our mailing list by emailing admin@webnet.ltd.uk with UNSUBSCRIBE in the title and we will remove you from our database.

How we use your personal information.

If you specifically agreed to follow-up contacts by us or asked to be put on our mailing list when you registered, we may contact you from time to time. For example, we may send you promotion materials; we may respond to your comments or requests for information; or we may contact you if needed in the course of processing our service to you as requested.

In the email section of our site, we may ask for some personally-identifiable information, such as your name and phone number. We use this information only if we need to contact you directly because our attempts to contact you by email were unsuccessful. We don't use your email address for any purpose other than responding to the message you've sent, unless we have your permission.

We also use personal information about you to improve our marketing and promotional efforts; to statistically analyse website usage; and to improve our features and content. We may also use your personal information to deliver content that is customised to your interests as we best understand them from the information you've provided to us and your activities on the site. We do not collect personal information automatically, but we may combine non-personal information collected automatically with your previously submitted personal information.

Webnet Ltd's primary goal in collecting personal information is to give you a meaningful and customised experience while you are using our website.

Data sharing and transfer.

We do not sell, transfer, or disclose the personally identifiable information we gather at our website to third parties without your prior consent. There are some limited exceptions to this rule: We will disclose information in cases where we are permitted or required to do so by law, for example where it is necessary to investigate or prevent a crime.

How to contact us.

If you have any questions about our Privacy Policy, you can contact us at: Webnet Ltd,
